Two double classroom mobiles were sited at Parklands Primary School in 2004 to accommodate additional pupils, as part of the Northampton Schools Reorganisation, until an extension to the main building has been built under the Private Finance Initiative. At the time the application was submitted it was envisaged that the work would have been completed by September 2005 but unfortunately it has been delayed. The original application has now expired we are, therefore requesting temporary approval until 31st September 2007 by which time the extension should be built and the mobile buildings can be removed.
